Tutoring Experience

For the past five years, I have been dedicated to helping students excel in IB Biology and other international curricula, guiding them through challenging topics and preparing them for their exams. My experience spans from teaching core biology concepts to higher-level topics in both classroom and online settings.

During my career, I've also tutored A-Level and IGCSE students, providing personalized support to ensure they understand the complexities of biology. My students have consistently improved their grades and developed a deeper appreciation for the subject, often excelling in their final exams and moving on to successful academic careers.
