Tutoring Experience

Over the past 17 years, I have worked with students from diverse educational backgrounds across Europe, Asia, and North America. My focus has been on preparing students for the IB curriculum, with special emphasis on helping them develop a robust understanding of economic theories and their real-world applications.

In addition to IB Economics, I've guided students in A-Level, IGCSE, and AP Economics, helping them tackle complex topics like elasticity, fiscal policy, and international trade. My students have consistently achieved excellent grades, with many gaining admission to prestigious universities worldwide.

Beyond individual tutoring, I've conducted workshops for students preparing for external examinations, offering targeted strategies for essay writing, data response questions, and case studies. This comprehensive support has made a significant impact on students' academic confidence and performance.
